THIS PAPER RECEIVES THE COM-BINED TELEGRAPHIC-NEWS SER-VICE OF THE SOUTHERN ASSOCIA-TED PRESS AND THE UNITED

The Sound-Money Issue.

The sound-money issue involved in the elections of last week was the question whether the United States Government should undertake to provide for the fre coinage of silver, 16 to 1, without having the co-operation of any other nation. The people decided that that proposition was an unwise one. They had had months and months of time in which to ponder the question. They had had newspapers, periodicals, books, pamphlets, &c., crowded with facts and figures on the subject. Above all, they had had the greatest of all the means of reaching the human heart and the human brainthe living voice. We say that after a full discussion of the merits of what is styled "free silver," the voters decided The opposition to it has grown gradually, but it was a healthy growth; for the people followed up the arguments of their writers and speakers, and when they rendered their verdict it was an intelligent one. They knew what they were doing. Look at the matter. The six New England States in the next Demo-National Convention may be counted as solid for sound money. So as to the great commercial State of New York, and the great manufacturing State of Pennsylvania. So as to New Jersey, Delaware, and Maryland. So as to Ohio. Illinois, and other Northwestern States, We name several Republican States because the Republican States will be as fully represented in the Democratic National Convention as the Democratic States. Moreover, it will require a twothirds majority in the Democratic tional Convention to adopt a silver plank Then when we recollect that the Republicans will have an immense majority in the next House of Representa-tives, and that President Cleveland is opposed to free coinage, we cannot but see that the free-silver proposition has no longer vitality enough to enable it weather a national financial storm. "The stars in their courses fight against Sisera." We use the Democratic National Convention to illustrate our argument, but we doubt whether the silverites will make any attempt to secure the control of that body. On the contrary, the conventions for the appointment of delegates to it will afford to the free-silver Democracy a good opportunity to be voted down at home, and to dispose of the silver question inside of the Democratic party. This is going pretty far, we know, but we are confident that the event will show that we are right. We base our forecast upon the indisputable fact that local and cohemeral issues cannot survive more than one decided and general defeat.

Not One of Them. We can hardly ever look upon Judge Hughes without thinking that as to the Republican party "he is in it but not of it." He seems to us to belong in the Democratic party. Nevertheless, he is enrolled under the Republican flag, and is prepared to rejoice over a Republican victory at the presidential election of next year. The Judge is "muster free," that is to say he can retire upon full pay if he desires to do so. So that his conduct and his opinions are free from any bias. Nevertheless, Judge Hughes chims too great a triumph next year for his Republican allies. We would have him revise his figures and give the Democrats at least a "fighting chance." There are a good many Silverites in the Republican party, whereas the results of the recent elections have threshed, or ought to have threshed, all the free-coinage Democrats back into their party.

In saying that he would not accept the State chairmanship of the Republican party in Virginia unless he were also made a member of the National Republican Committee, Colonel Lamb has precedent. General Mahone held both positions for many years; but we believe that there was one interim when Colonel Brady got the upper hand of the General, and after a smart contest in the national convention secured for himself the naginia with both parties supports Colonel

Lamb's position. Mr. Barbour held both positions in the Democratic organization. So, too, did Mr. Gordon, who was the last chairman we elected on the eve of a presidential campaign. We have heard it said that Mr. arbour often declared it was well-nigh indispensable to him as chairman that he should be a member of the National Committee, so that he might help that committee, and make that committee

However, we don't wish to be under-

place. The Republicans might not consider us a safe counsellor. We only wish to establish what we believe to be a historical fact-viz., that as a rule in Virginia, the chairman of each of the great parties has also been the member of the National Committee.

Roster of Virginia Troops. Regular readers of the Dispatch know what a great interest we have taken in the matter of the State securing a rester of the officers and men that she furnished to the Confederate army. In season and out of season we have urged this work upon public attention, as a sacred duty that we owe to our dead, to ourselves, and to posterity.

The rolls are on file in the War-Records Office of the War Department, but within the past year or two a rule has been laid down that no person other than an employee of the department shall make copies of any roll, or other paper there,

Federal or Confederate. If we understand the case, this rule was considered necessary because the Federal rolls had been handled by pension-agents and others until they had been worn out almost. Really, there was no necessity for applying the rule to the Confederate rolls, but it has been done, and we fear cannot be easily undone; certainly, it cannot be undone without congressional action, and whether a Republican Congress would oblige in this respect remains to be seen. If Congress would allow us to send to

Washington one or two dozen Virginia men and women we could copy our rolls at a cost not exceeding $5,000 or $6,000; but, if we have to pay the copying-rates demanded by the War Department, the cost of the work would probably aggregate $10,000. Our veterans ought to petition the Legislature to take early action on this The first step the Legislature should take should be to ascertain if there is any probability that Congress would allow us to do our own copying. We can but be refused; it is our duty to ask. If our request is dented, we shall have either to comply with the exorbitant demands of the War Department or give up our long-cherished purpose of securing these rolls and filing them amongst the archives of the State until they can be printed. North Carolina, Louisiana, and many other States long ago secured copies of their rolls. Shall Virginia neglect her pain duty? We believe that our veterans would say "No"-not even if we have to pay $40,000 for what we might have gotten five or six years ago for $5,000 or $6,000. If the matter is not acted upon by the Legislature at its coming session, two years will pass before we shall have another such opportunity. Indeed, we fear that if not acted upon at the coming session, it will never be acted upon at all. In that event, the historian who asks how many soldiers Virginia furnished to the Confederacy will nave take a guess for an answer. Or States will answer him from their records how many troops they furnished, while Virginia is as likely as not to be credited with a number short of the true figures. Already, it is asserted that other States furnished more men to the Confederacy than Virginia did.

Then, there is the duty that we owe to our soldiers to put their names among the archives of the State; and already there are questions raised as to the rank in our service of this, that, or the other man, and the correct answer is not always at hand. The reasons why we should possess ourselves of copies of these rolls are so numerous that they suggest themselves at once to the mind of every thoughtful person.

The rolls in the possession of the government are original rolls. They are muster-rolls and pay-rolls which were forwarded from the field to the War Department of the Confederate Government, and which fell into the hands of the Federal forces upon the occupation of Richmond and Danville.

We do not know in what form this subject will be presented to the attention of the Legislature; but presume that though they will bear not above 21-2 per camps and through personal letters addressed to our senators and delegate in the General Assembly.

The Republican party believes, in na-tional as in local affairs, that the will of the people should be honestly expressed in laws meant to be strictly and impar-tially executed.—New York Tribune.

"The will of the people!" Think of the manner in which "the will of the peo ple" of the South was carried out by the Republican party, beginning with reconstruction under military control and ending with the deputy marshals, as Federal supervisors of elections, provided for in the Federal-election laws, which were abolished by the last Democratic Cogress. Think of the thirteenth, fourteenth and fifteenth amendments which were, by coercion, crowded into the Federal Constitution against "the will of the people" of the South. Recall the whole history of the Republican party, and see how much truth there is in the Tribune's averment.

The name of Mr. Carlisle is now mentioned in connection with the vacancy on the United States Supreme Bench. This is due, says a Washington correspondent of the New York Times. to the result of the election in Kentucky. which makes it practically certain that a Republican will be chosen senator to succeed Blackburn. There is an impression that Mr. Carlisle will not care to retire from public life, and those who take this view see nothing in the way of a suitable place for him outside of the Supreme

"Nune pro tune proceedings," are proceedings "now for then." In the Lunenburg case they simply mean that the Commonwealth's-Attorney is now seeking to have the record so amended as to contain what it would have contained had it been fully and properly made out originally. In what respect it is proposed to amend the record we do not know. The counsel for the prisoners in their speeches to the Court on Monday complained that they had received no notification of the amendments proposed.

The Cleveland Plain Dealer has the following amusing argument by implication against civii-service-reform laws:

against civit-service-reform laws:

"Mr. Lochren's suggestion of pensioning superannuated clerks in the Pension Office will doubtless bring sympathetic tears to the eyes of every tax-payer in the country. The hardship of keeping a poor fe'low in office upon an unwieldy salary for eight hours' work per day, then turning him out after service of twenty or thirty years to shift for himself, is certainly not to be thought of. It is certainly patriotic for a man to sacrifice the best years of his life in office."

Among the passengers who arrived in New York on Monday by the steamer Allianca from Colon was Colonel A. L. stood as taking any part in the contest Rives, of Virginia, late superintendent of now being waged for General Mahone's the Panama railroad.
